In the entertainment industry, collaboration is key – whether it's face-to-face via a video conference or staying on top of changes to scripts, venues, schedules and more. SmartBox gives you the flexibility you require with file sharing, collaborating and communicating with one solution. Eliminate the need for an FTP client when you need to send a video and audio – simply share a link with clients, talent and vendors via email, Facebook, LinkedIn and Twitter. Stay focused delivering quality entertainment, let SmartBox do the heavy lifting in communications.

Upload and download files. No longer rely on your FTP client to manage files (like scripts and video clips) that are too large to email. All file types can be shared individually by creating a link and sending them via email or social media. Share folders and files with those you choose and at any level within the directory structure and assign user privilege levels – viewer, editor or co-owner.

Collaborate with your Team. Keeping everyone on your production team up-to-date on the most current version of scripts, production schedules, and launch parties can be complicated. You can download files and start a web meeting – audio or video – straight from SmartBox. No longer switch between numerous different applications and programs when you need to sync up on any of your time-sensitive information.

Secure and Confidential Access.

Password-protection keeps your launch events safe and private until you're ready to reveal them to the public. SmartBox is there with encryption technology and 2-phase authentication to keep your most sensitive information secure. Even when a device has been lost or stolen, you have complete control. Set up notifications so that you are always aware of who is sharing files and folders.

The SmartBox Advantage. SmartBox is designed with the features every business requires that seamlessly integrates file sharing, communications and collaboration together to improve productivity, responsiveness and information flow between employees, offices and clients. SmartBox was built with you in mind.
