

CONTRACT STAFFING

Develop an agile workforce for the future

Contingent labor is an opportunity to create a thoughtful and targeted workforce

Historically an afterthought, contingent labor has become a strategic weapon for enterprises to leverage. Contingent labor enables organizations to build agile and intentional workforces empowered to tackle the future. Contingent workers insulate organizations from business fluctuations, can provide targeted expertise necessary for specific circumstances, and can quickly be scaled up and scaled down depending on an organization's needs. The nature of work is rapidly changing and by 2020 over 40% of the domestic workforce will be engaged on a contingent basis.

Though the market is shifting towards contingent talent, engaging with this talent remains as complicated as ever. Sourcing top talent and ensuring they adhere to compliance standards is a fraught challenge.

Organizations need to work with a true talent partner to take advantage of this model.
