

OX BUMPER WINCH KIT

Designed For Skid Steers

Skid steer operators often need retrieval capability or the ability for self-recovery to make their jobs easier. These abilities, along with added protection for the engine compartment, are available with the new OX bumper winch kit. The OX bumper winch has a large 20,000 lbs. capacity for effective self-recovery and object retrieval, a modular and open design that allows full access to the engine without compromising protection and can be easily installed on a variety of skid steer brands and models. And because they are made by dp Winch, a market leader for nearly 50 years, you can rest assured that these winches are rugged and dependable.
