

Prepare Your Nonprofit for Smooth Sailing through COVID-19

Presented by 501 Commons & Tech
Impact, March 2020

KAREN GRAHAM

Managing Director of Education and Outreach, Tech Impact

Pronouns: She/Her

I oversee our education, outreach, and communications work and lead the Idealware team-- researchers, presenters, and writers who create technology information resources designed to help nonprofit leaders put their vision into action. My expertise is in tech strategy, innovation, and leadership.

GRAHAM FORD

Director of Technology & Consulting
Services, 501 Commons

Pronouns: He/Him

For eight years, Graham has led technology design and implementation in mission critical business environments for 501 Commons and its clients. Graham has worked and volunteered in nonprofit and governmental institutions in technical and non-technical roles. He has an MBA in Technology Management from the UW Foster School of Business.

LINDA WIDDOP

Managing Director of Client Solutions,
Tech Impact

Pronouns: She/Her

I manage all aspects of client relations for Tech Impact including educating nonprofits about technology solutions. I work with local, regional and national partners to provide the nonprofit community with increased knowledge of technology through speaking engagements.
