“

Celigo is one of the best products I have ever worked with. We will be doing all our integrations with Celigo. I am more than happy to chat with someone in the same position we were in. Our business model relies on integrations. We are at the forefront with our strategy because we understand the importance of integration. Getting up and running with a platform that's got pre-built integrations is much nicer than all of the other platforms I've used.

We do fairly complex orchestrations with Celigo. We pull data from other systems to perform more sophisticated accounting computations. So when we say we take transactions all the way to the finish line, we definitely can do that now with Celigo.

There is pretty stark difference comparing Celigo to the other platforms we tried out in term of being able to quickly set up and deploy flows. I've worked with a lot of SaaS companies, and I know that other companies are not this flexible. Whatever endpoint we use, it's pleasing to know that Celigo works for us.
