Biodesix:

A privately held lung cancer diagnostic solutions company founded in 2006 addressing the continuum of patient care from early diagnosis of lung nodules through late stage cancer.

Biodesix Technology:

The company develops diagnostic tests addressing important clinical questions by interpreting a patient's tumor and immune profile with the power of artificial intelligence from a simple blood draw. Biodesix is the first company to offer four best-in class, blood-based tests for patients with lung cancer or suspicious lung nodules, and multiple pipeline tests including one with the potential to identify patients who may benefit from immunotherapies. Biodesix also partners with the world's leading biotechnology and pharmaceutical companies to develop companion diagnostics.

Biodesix Products:

The Biodesix Lung Reflex[®] strategy integrates the GeneStrat[®] genomic and VeriStrat[®] proteomic tests to support non-small cell lung cancer treatment decisions with results in 72 hours. Together the tests provide more accurate molecular information to help fight lung cancer quickly.

The Nodify Lung[™] Nodule Risk Assessment testing solution combines both the Nodify CDT[™] and Nodify XL2[™] proteomic tests in a single blood draw to help physicians quickly and accurately decipher the risk of malignancy of a lung nodule.
