How to Report Animal Abuse or Neglect

1. Document the Details

Document the date, time, and location of the crime. Write down a physical description of all people and animals involved.

Photos and videos are excellent tools for documenting animal abuse or neglect.

2. Make the Call

Call 911, your local police department, or the local animal welfare agency.

3. Let the Law Handle the Case

An officer will look into the complaint to see if any laws have been violated, and issue a citation. In extreme cases, a humane agency may take custody of the animal.
