

TRUST US

Families of fallen heroes have unique needs, from press inquiries, to the scale of the service and the transportation. Busch offers tailored services to meet these needs. Complimentary services include:

- Burial or cremation services and Merchandise.*
- A designated funeral director, taken off all other duties during the time of care.
- A media liaison to coordinate with press, photographers and/or elected officials.
- Press release services.

With seven locations, Busch is able to serve families across Northeast Ohio with professionals specialized also in offsite locations and logistics.

* See inner panel for a list of full benefits.

Our public service benefits program is for active full-time members of the Police, Sheriff, Highway Patrol, FBI, Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Firefighters (including volunteers), Emergency Medical Service, Police and Fire Chaplains and all U.S. Military personnel, whether serving locally or abroad.

SERVICES WE OFFER

There are no charges for the following burial or cremation services and merchandise:

- Professional services and staff
- Visitation and funeral service
- Local transport from place of death to funeral home
- Local hearse
- 20 gauge steel casket and sealed concrete vault (Burial)
- Ceremonial casket, cultured marble urn and crematory fee (Cremation)
- Memorial book, prayer cards, service folders, and thank you cards
- Online obituary

Some of the above services and merchandise are dependent upon the family's choice between burial and cremation.

TESTIMONIALS

"Our experience with Busch was simply outstanding. During our family's intense grief at the sudden loss of our son, CPL. Jeffrey A. Boskovitch, USMC, Bob Solich and staff were incredibly supportive, understanding and helpful. Bob and the Busch family took care of every request and detail so that our son was laid to rest with honor. "

"The marines recommended Busch. They said they were first-class and they would know what to do. I was stunned, I was shocked. I didn't know what to do. What I needed was someone to take me by the hand and lead me through it, and that's exactly what they did. They were so compassionate. I felt like they were family already, and still to this day feel that way. "

MARIANNE SCHERRY – ROCKY RIVER, OH

*In memory of LCPL. Daniel R. Scherry, USMC
Sep. 26, 1986, Cleveland, Ohio – Apr. 16, 2007, Anbar Province, Iraq*

"David was honored in ways that we probably couldn't have done had it not been for the help we got from Busch. It was an honor from moment one because they honored us first. The situation, the circumstances, they were really, really sensitive to that. Without organization and leadership, I don't think it would have been pulled off in such an incredible manner. "

SANDRA MENDEZ RUIZ – CLEVELAND, OH

GENERATIONS OF SERVICE

The Busch family has been proudly assisting the families of fallen veterans and those in public service for more than 100 years. It is our honor and privilege to serve those who have sacrificed for their country and community.

Our family's legacy of service dates back to the Civil War, where John Busch's great grandfather, Marx Buhl, served in the U.S. Cavalry at the battle of Gettysburg. He is now honored on the historic Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument in Cleveland's Public Square, and is an enduring reminder of the legacy we wish to preserve for all our fallen heroes.

Bringing a hero home, or honoring a local hero, takes a special commitment and understanding of the family's needs during this time. Busch offers the generations of experience, in-house capabilities, resources and compassionate staff to facilitate the respectful tribute that a public service funeral requires.

As Northeast Ohio's preferred provider of burial and cremation services, let Busch provide the support, leadership and guidance to lay your loved one to rest with honor.

"What I needed was someone to take me by the hand and lead me through it, and that's exactly what they did."
