

Take Engagement from the Town Hall to the Living Room

Win-Win for you and your Clients

Ethelo is designed for engagement professionals, and its highly customizable interface can be configured for just about any participatory process. We provide expert engagement help which includes not only technical services, but also participant recruitment and offline engagement support. We are committed to providing a high-end digital solution that eliminates the need to shop for multiple technologies and suppliers.

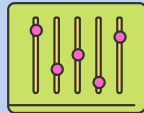

Ethelo's online engagement platform and underlying decision engine are optimized for fairness. Participants combine their collective intelligence to identify solutions with the highest level of consensus and, thus, the lowest amount of risk to you and your clients.

Participants are able to learn about issues, discuss them, and see the trade-offs and impacts of their choices as they move through the staged decision process. You receive real-time analysis and an optimized, client-ready report (with supporting data) that clearly identifies actionable, broadly supported outcomes.
