

Matt Andrade
CFO

Matt oversees finance, human resources and general administration, as well as the financial strategies and business processes that are fundamental to ActiveVideo's growth objectives. He creates the financial models that are cornerstones of the evaluation of new technology and market opportunities and he drives investment decisions that help the company scale across additional business and geographic areas.

Matt joined ActiveVideo in 2010 as a financial controller, and later served as vice president, finance and administration. He has implemented vital operational and financial disciplines that are aligned to the company's business objectives. Previously, he had been on a partner track at Burr, Pilger & Mayer and co-founded BizProNet, a consulting practice which was created to connect businesses with pre-vetted management level consultants.

Matt is licensed as a CPA by the State of California. He holds a B.S. in Accounting from Santa Clara University.
