REVEREARTS

the only grants management platform to give you complete control over your entire granting processes

Grantmaking within the arts and culture sector can be complex. Aside from handling applications across multiple award programs, and numerous genres and art forms, there's a review process to manage; communications with diverse groups; and stringent reporting. On top of this, it all has to be intuitive enough for applicants who are new to the world of grantmaking.

No two funders are alike. That's why Revere Arts, SmartSimple's granting solution for arts and cultural funding agencies leads with the most advanced technology available and the flexibility to fit around any unique granting need. In doing so, Revere Arts transforms how you manage awards and provides true insight into how your funding benefits communities.

Arts and culture are powerful tools to inspire public dialogue, and deserve to be sustained with grants management software that's equally powerful. Through Revere Arts, you can put a flexible, intelligent solution to work to support your investments and ensure your organization is ready for whatever the future holds.

what they mean for the arts community get to really know your applicants

Do you support individual artists as well as arts and cultural organizations? With Revere Arts, applicants can switch between applying as an individual or on behalf of an organization – eliminating duplicate records and making it easier for freelance grant writers to work with multiple applicants.

simpler, easier way to collaborate

Revere Arts makes the assessment process more collaborative and accessible than ever. Review and share submitted materials through an online portal anytime, anywhere – no more scattered emails or time-consuming downloads. Enhanced video streaming reduces buffering for a smoother viewing experience, and video annotation means applicants can set cue points to the most important parts of their work – making it simpler for reviewers to give evidence-based feedback.
