

We're a farmer-owned co-op. Have been since 1921.

We were founded on the belief of working together. Of looking out for one another.

That includes you. Today, it includes everyone.

We know there's only so much we can do individually, but know we're doing our part to keep grocery shelves stocked.

Our dairy farmers are rising early, caring for their cows, caring for our country. Their work ethic, like our retailers', won't tire.

Our plant workers, truck drivers and retail partners are working together to keep food available to all. It's essential.

We get inspiration from our dairy farmers, retailers and from so many others sacrificing for a greater good in this time of need. Their dedication drives us.

Most of all, they remind us of the responsibility we have to each other. All of us.
