Overview

GCC BDI has teamed up with world-leading advisory firm Water Street Partners to hold a workshop on JV board directorship. This one-day workshop will guide you through the unique responsibilities and challenges of JV board directorship.

Oftentimes JV boards present challenges for which few directors are prepared. New JV board directors must understand how to artfully manage commercial conflicts of interest. They must learn how to exercise influence over a business or asset that they do not control, and collectively steer management without being individually directive. And they must be prepared to forcefully champion the venture within their own company – securing skills and resources. The GCC BDI workshop facilitators will work with you to learn how to negotiate these challenges and reap optimum results for your career and your organization.

Who Should Attend?

The “Joint Venture Directorship – Global Best Practices” Workshop is suitable for existing and aspiring JV board directors, JV C suite and JV board secretaries.

The workshop will focus on the following key areas:

- The similarities and differences between corporate and joint venture Directors
- What is good JV governance? (The Seven Rights)
- What makes an effective JV director
- Understanding JV agreements
- How companies support their JV directors
- Tools to use in your role as a JV director
