Yvonne Schlaeppli is an independent public company director. Currently, she serves on the boards of Stallergenes Greer plc (Euronext STAGR), a global biopharmaceutical company headquartered in London, UK, specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of allergies through the development and commercialization of allergy immunotherapy products and services, and AstroNova, Inc. (NASDAQ ALOT), an industrial company headquartered in Rhode Island, US, which develops and applies data visualization technologies to products serving industrial, packaging, aerospace, and defense markets globally. She is a member of Stallergenes Greer's Audit and Nominating and Compensation Committees and of AstroNova's Audit and Nominating Committees. Yvonne is also a member of the External Advisory Council at Brigham and Women's Hospital for the Channing Division of Network Medicine. She is managing partner and cofounder of Stratevise, an international transaction advisory firm.

Yvonne was General Counsel at three global groups: Organon BioSciences (pharmaceuticals, animal health and biotech); Global Enterprise Technologies Passport & ID (security credentialing); and European general counsel at Johnson Controls (industrial conglomerate). She was also Partner and Chair of the International Practice Group at Palmer & Dodge in Boston. She began her career in New York and Zurich.

Yvonne is a National Association of Corporate Directors Board Leadership Fellow and is frequently asked to speak about M&A, business development, managing rapid growth, international operations and risk, and corporate governance.

Yvonne is a graduate of Princeton University (the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs) and earned her JD at Columbia University.
