GOVERNMENT
PERFORMANCE MANAGER
CERTIFICATION PROGRAM

PLAN • JUSTIFY • MEASURE • EVALUATE • MANAGE • REPORT • INNOVATE

Achieving career advancement is growing more competitive each day.

In The Performance Institute's Certified Government Performance Manager program, you will acquire the skills and tools needed to make you the lead performance management resource for your organization.

Upon completion of your CGPM certification, you will gain both a professional distinction and academic credit. The Performance Institute's courses are accredited through the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA), the Project Management Institute (PMI) and other accreditation organizations.

How the Program Works

The Certified Government Performance Manager program design is simple — take the core courses, three electives, and complete a Capstone project or exam. Although the structure is simple, no two people will have the same experience, and each person will receive the individual attention necessary for success.

It's convenient for your schedule – and rewarding.

> 3: Top it off with a Capstone Project, or complete the exam

Once your training is complete, the final stage of your certification is to complete the Capstone project to finish your Advanced certification or pass the exit exam for the Standard certification.

Most candidates pursue the Advanced track and use a real project from their agency – using the time and expert advice to meet real deadlines.

Sample projects have included:

Revising the Strategic Planning Project for the National Credit Union Administration

Development of New Performance Measures for the Chattanooga Housing Authority

From The Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation, the Center for Planning and Analysis (CPA) Evaluation for the Office of Administration's (ADM), Security and Facilities Program.
